English-Taught Module in the Institute of Education for Teacher Education Students

Spring semester 2022/2023
15 ECTS

Introduction to Estica and Learning Journey, 3 ECTS
The course gives an introduction to Estonian language, culture, educational organization and introduces good practices at our university. During the course students visit museum and take part of 1-day observation practice at a school. The course is partly e-learning and it might start before the student arrives to Estonia. During the studies the student fills in a study diary and the course ends with a final seminar.

Digital Literacy, 6 ECTS
The course focuses on developing digital literacy. The topic of different learning environments (e.g. open space) and issues related to study resources are also discussed.

Inclusion and Communicative Competences, 6 ECTS
The subject is a combination of two subjects from the basic module of teacher training: Inclusive Education and Communication and Feedback in School, which will be linked to observation practice at school. The course introduces the principles of inclusive education and issues related to its implementation both in the Estonian context and in the wider world. The communication skills necessary for the teacher will also be introduced through practical tasks that are related to theoretical approaches. It is possible for a student to attend an observation practice at schools where studies are held in English (e.g. Miina Härma Gymnasium and Tartu International School).

Other Courses
In addition, it is possible to choose subjects from our English-taught Educational Technology curriculum and professional English courses.
